

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McL. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a

852

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.

"Ace" Bether
and his wife and children

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McM. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallsburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

852

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.

THE STORY OF UTAH'S CANYONS Treasures of Pioneer History Vol 6 DANIELS CANYON—WASATCH COUNTY

413

It was not long after the first settlers of 1859 started to develop the land near the creeks coming into Provo Valley from nearby canyons, that herdsmen sought for close-by range for their livestock. Others explored the canyons for timber stands with which to build homes in Provo Valley and Utah Valley; so, just as the Provo Canyon road was built, Daniels Canyon was opened for this same purpose.

A man whose surname was Daniels lived close to the creek and trapped along it to the head of the canyon and it was from him that the canyon derived its name. Through the canyon, which was very narrow, with high, rugged sides, ran a stream of crystal clear water in the spring and early summer, which dwindled away to a small brook in the fall. The canyon sides were covered with grass, shrubs, mahogany, scrub oak and maple, also service berries, elderberries and choke cherries, and on toward the 8,000 feet summit, quaking aspens, and different species of pine grew in abundance.

At intervals, starting from the mouth of the canyon, other canyons break away east and west from Daniels Canyon. These provided fine summer pasture for cattle and sheep herds. As one starts into the canyon, Noakes and Bromley Hollow comes in from the west onto the bench-ground west of the creek, which was tilled in pioneer days.

As you go into the canyon proper Boomer Canyon comes in from the west. Boomer Bench, a high flat country breaks off into the canyon here. The Dry Fork comes in from the east; Parker Hollow comes in from the west. Clegg Canyon, named for a Mr. Clegg who had a sawmill there, comes in from the east. Next, Cummings Hollow, from the west, named for a family who operated a sawmill in that vicinity. Station Hollow comes in from the west, so named because of a station located there where riders who carried mail to Vernal could rest and change horses.

Center Canyon comes in from the east and was the location of another sawmill. Between this canyon and Dead Horse Flat, Cory Hanks, who was so cruelly maimed in a giant-cap explosion, had a little store and there he lived with his mother. Next Turner Canyon comes in from the west where Turners owned a sawmill. Then Rowe Hollow, which supposedly got its name because Indians and white men had a skirmish there. Three Forks, one canyon from the east, two from the west comes in next. Here John Turner had another sawmill; then comes McQuire Canyon from the east where Patrick McQuire built a sawmill.

still

Near the head of the canyon are small hollows—Shingle Hollow where the Alexanders ran a sawmill and Noakes made shingles. Forman Hollow where the Formans had a sawmill and Charles E. Thacker a shingle mill at the forks of the hollow. Small streams

Ace Bether Service Station

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McM. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallsburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

852

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McM. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallsburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McM. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallsburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.

ASA ALMA AND JEROME WALL BETHERS

Asa Alma Bethers was born in Daniel on October 8, 1890, the fourteenth child of William S. and Phebe McM. Bethers. He married Jerome Wall on April 20, 1925, the marriage being solemnized later in the Salt Lake Temple. She was born on September 15, 1893, at Wallsburg, Utah, daughter of Abraham and Amelia Rogers Wall. Both are living.

Being the youngest child, Asa Alma was a favorite among the other members of the family. He was a good-looking boy and grew up to be a very quiet, retiring young man.

He grew up under the fine influence of his parents, attending school in the schoolhouse on his father's land, with Maria Christensen as his teacher. He also attended Church functions there. He was baptized July 23, 1899.

His mother died when he was 19, so he went to Park City, where he worked in the mills until his brother Taylor died. He then returned home and remained on the ranch. Later he acquired the ranch at the head of Daniels Canyon, where he has a

582

V BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

roadhouse and store where travelers and campers buy groceries, gas and oil.

He and his wife have two girls. They belong to the Daniel Ward and have been to the Temple.

They have a nice home in Heber, where Jerome and the girls spend the winter while Ace still cares for his business at the Daniel Canyon Summit.